

A detailed oil painting of Albrecht Dürer's self-portrait. He is depicted from the chest up, wearing a voluminous, dark brown fur coat with a thick, shaggy collar. He has long, wavy, reddish-brown hair and a full, dark beard and mustache. His eyes are a striking blue, and he has a serious, contemplative expression. The background is dark and indistinct. In the upper right corner, there is a Latin inscription in gold script. The overall lighting is dramatic, highlighting the texture of the fur and the details of his face.

MARTIN KIRVES

Albrechtus Dürerus Noncus
ipsum me proprijs sic effin-geram coloribus quatis.
anno 1528.

Albrecht Dürers
Selbstporträt im Pelzrock

Eine gemalte Bildphilosophie